LIVING IN FULL BLOOM

Living in Full Bloom is a blog written by a college junior, focused on helping young men & women not only survive, but thrive in the years before, during, and after college. Founded in May 2016 by Alyssa Larsen, Living in Full Bloom has grown quickly and continues to grow exponentially every day. Living in Full Bloom focuses on bringing high-quality advice and recommendations to readers in order to help them achieve their goals. Alyssa writes about all things relating to college, including dorm supplies, studying, mental health, study abroad/traveling, relationships, careers, and pre-college preparation.
